Fog, mist and icy highways covered the Canyon area early Tuesday morning. The railroad wasn't as susceptible to the elements as was the highway motorist. In less than an hour's time, the icy conditions claimed damage to ten vehicles.

Fog, Icy Roads Blamed For Many Area Accidents

Extreme icy road conditions early Tuesday morning caused damage to ten cars within a 45 minute time period on Highway 87 north of Canyon.

Following a night of light rain and mist, the highways and overpasses were covered with a thin layer of ice before the early morning traffic began.

At approximately 7:30 a.m., a car driven by Sherry K. Sunderman, 27, of Canyon, was eastbound on Highway 60 and when attempting to negotiate the curve on the overpass above Highway 87, the car went out of control after coming in contact with the icy overpass surface and struck the guard rail. No injuries resulted from the accident.

Fifteen minutes later, a car driven by Jeanne Weldon Denton, 45, of Canyon was headed north on Highway 87 in the left-hand lane when the slick highway conditions took control and sent the car swerving to the right and over a guard rail. There were no injuries.

The fifteen minute interval remained constant when two related accidents occurred at approximately 8 a.m. on Highway 87 just south of the north city limits.

The first accident occurred when a car driven by Andrew Kenneth Britten, 23, a WT student from Groom, lost control of his car when trying to avoid a collision with an unknown vehicle. This started a chain reaction that resulted in an eight car smashup.

After losing control, Britten's car was struck from behind by a car driven by Charles Neil Sumner, 26, of Amarillo. Sumner's car was then hit from behind by Karen W. Webb, 22, of Amarillo. Continuing the chain reaction, the Webb vehicle was struck by Cameron Wayne Monroe, 22, also of Amarillo. The Monroe car was then struck from the rear by a car driven by Kathi Porter Turner, 25, of Amarillo.

Moments later, in trying to avoid the five-car accident, a car driven by Virginia Crager Scott, 31, of Amarillo went out of control on the slick highway and the chain continued. Steven Rex Moreland, 17, of Amarillo struck the rear of the Scott car and a car driven by Christine Mari Wright, 24, also of Amarillo hit the rear of the Moreland car.

Moreland was the only person injured. He was taken to Amarillo by private automobile with cuts and bruises.

Sheriff's deputies and city policemen said it is unusual for so many accidents to occur even on icy streets in the area. The last ice storm in Canyon saw no accidents.

It was after dawn that icy conditions began to form on area streets and highways as a light mist turned into a light rain and began freezing.

While the highway conditions were considered hazardous around Canyon, the situation was apparently worse in Amarillo where motorists were urged to detour around Interstate 40, the scene of many wrecks.

While ice formed on trees and

With County-purchased radios

DPS Will Center In On Overloaded Trucks

Randall County will buy two citizens band radios so the Texas Department of Public Safety can catch overweight trucks which "scatter through the county like a covey of quail" at first sign of a black and white highway patrol car.

Larry Negri, officer with the DPS license and weights division, said the purchase of the radios for use in his and other DPS vehicles which operate in the county will enable them to have an edge in the game of hide-and-seek now played by overweight truckers who are already using CB radios to find DPS units and avoid them, often taking to little travelled county roads to escape detection.

The officer, who said DPS patrolmen in his division spend 60 per cent of their time on U. S. 87 and U. S. 60 in Randall County because of the volume of north-south truck traffic, originally asked that the county purchase three $150 radios, one for each of three units stationed in Amarillo. Commissioners voted to purchase only two.

While CB radios have been in use by truckers for several years, Negri said it has been since the passage of the 50-miles-per hour speed law that the radios have really come into significant use, allowing the truckers to locate a DPS unit and avoid detection by by-passing his location.

Negri said many truckers, overloaded by as much as 60,000 pounds, can cause serious damage to county roads as well as state highways.

The CB radios have proved effective when used by the DPS, he said, citing recent experience near Muleshoe when the radios allowed the unit to find the detouring truckers.

If the use of the radios would help in catching the overloaded truckers, it would also thereby bring more funds into the county, Negri said, noting that last year fines to truckers who were overloaded accounted for $10,000 in income in Justice of the Peace W. W. Hancock's court.

In other business Monday, commissioners complained of a $801 fire call fee charged by the City of Amarillo for answering a call to a new tractor dealership on South Washington.

Commissioner Jim Fletcher said the county should return the bill to the city with a refusal to pay it.

He said the bill was for a call Feb. 6 to the Texas Tractor Co. for a malfunction of the company's sprinkler system.

Fletcher suggested that because the company is new and its sprinkler system is new, the firm should possibly pay the $801 bill.

"It shouldn't be the obligation of the taxpayers for a malfunction of a brand new sprinkler system," he said. He indicated the City of Amarillo should not have billed the county for the call.

Commissioners voted to allocate $200 to Kids, Inc., in Canyon for this year, a cut of $200 under what the group had requested.

County Judge Woody Pond said the local group had asked for $400 from the county, but $200 of that amount was for an allocation made by the county last year but never paid to Kids, Inc.

"If they do need the money and they did need it in 1974, why didn't they send us a bill?" Fletcher asked.

Mrs. Elton Bryant, who lives on the unpaved portion of South Georgia south of Amarillo, appeared before commissioners to ask why, since her road had at one time been covered with caliche, it could not be resurfaced at county expense.

She said county crews were seen recently resurfacing the northern portion of the VFW Road and asked if it is not county policy to resurface caliche roads when they become worn.

Commissioners told Mrs. Bryant their policy had been to resurface caliche roads they had originally surfaced, but noted that the South Georgia road had been caliched as long as 30 years ago and had not been resurfaced since.

Commissioners passed a resolution asking that the Federal Power Commission reconsider its priority for natural gas use for irrigation wells. The resolution asks that a number two priority be given irrigation well use, rather than the number three priority recently passed by the FPC.

Commissioners opened bids for purchase of three new cars for the sheriff's office. Bids were received from Carousel Plymouth of Amarillo, Hudiburg-Jones Chevrolet of Amarillo, Jess Ford Co., Imperial Chevrolet and Stevenson Motor Co., and Plains Chevrolet. All bids were near the $4500 mark for each automobile.

Judge Pond read a letter to the commissioners from U. S. Sen.

Application Procedure Can Begin In April For Industrial Park Fund

Application procedures can probably begin next month for federal funds to aid industrial development of Canyon if federal officials do what they are expected to do and give Canyon a funding priority.

Panhandle Regional Planning Commission Director George Loudder, formerly city manager of Canyon, said recently a proposal that the 25-county Panhandle area be designated an economic development area should go to federal officials this month as the first step in a program to receive federal funds for development here.

Under the PRPC-prepared proposal, Amarillo and Canyon would be designated a growth center in the Panhandle and would be entitled to apply for priority funding through the federal Economic Development Agency.

Loudder said approval of the designations is expected in April and following that approval local city officials could begin working up proposals for funding through the EDA.

With Canyon designated a growth center, funds could be available for various economic development activities, activities primarily in the area of hardware.

One program the city could apply for would be development of an industrial park.

Officials attending an industrial development training seminar sponsored by Southwestern Public Service Co. and the Texas Industrial Commission last week here indicated they will push to have funds sought for establishment of an industrial site complete with water, sewer and utility lines and streets.

They feel the completion of an industrial park would enhance the chances of Canyon in competing for new industry.

However, other funding programs are also available under the EDA, programs for improving water and sewer systems, for example.

Local city officials have not seen guidelines on the types of programs available for funding, but new City Manager Glen Metcalf has indicated he will not hesitate to seek federal funding if programs can be justified.

Loudder said he does not know what kind of timetable might be established by EDA for funding under the economic development program.

Due To County Revaluation Effort

Money May Be Plentiful in 1979

Traditionally conservative Randall County commissioners, who've wielded a tight rein on expenditures this year, may have more money than they know what to do with in four years.

And, Randall County residents, who already pay on a lower tax rate than do their surrounding neighbors, could find themselves with a tax cut at the end of that period, according to John Carrington, hired by the county last year to head up a four-year reassessment program of county property.

All it takes to bring a smile to Carrington's face is to ask him how true market values for property compare with the values now on Randall County's tax rolls.

Randall County has not had a revaluation of property—at least in the memory of Mrs. Audrey Bruse, county tax assessor—and current values are figured on a 1955 standard, Carrington said.

He points out that in twenty years, the value of property has risen significantly.

"This has been a conservative county and it hasn't spent any money it didn't need to," Carrington said. "Normal growth has been the supporting factor because it's probably one of the most rapidly developing counties in the Panhandle."

Normal growth has produced the additional revenue needed to finance county government each year.

In fact, in some years normal growth has produced more revenue than even the commissioners thought conscionable. In the late 1960s, they lowered the tax rate, but in doing so set the stage for about four years of deficit operating budgets.

The deficits in those budgets, the last one of which was passed by commissioners for 1974, was made up from a surplus which at one time amounted to nearly half a million dollars.

For 1975, the commissioners tightened their belts and passed a budget which was in the black, but they have indicated they will be tough on appropriating funds not included in that budget and have been criticized by other governmental bodies recently for not increasing their allocation to Kids, Inc., of Amarillo.

The tight-belt situation will probably end when Carrington has finished his reassessment program for the county.

His assessment that some tax values on property in the county are extremely low is given with a chuckle.

But, for some other properties the tax values are just about what they should be in terms of Three Canyon High School girls have been placed on the Class AAA All-State tournament girls basketball team. Robena Johnson, an all-stater last year as a sophomore, made the team again this year as a junior. Miss Johnson averaged 35 points this season. Two Eagle guards also made the coveted team. Penny Peckenpaugh and Denice Hamblen were tabbed for their defensive prowess. The two Eaglette guards stymied opposing forwards throughout the season with their quick, aggressive play.

Sharla Wright Crowned Miss Canyon For 1975

A Canyon High School honors student, Miss Sharla Wright, was chosen Miss Canyon for 1975 Saturday night.

Miss Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wright of the Palisades, topped 34 other CHS girls in the annual competition sponsored by the Canyon Study Club.

She received a bundle of red roses and a crown from last year's Miss Canyon, Kelly Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elton Cox of Canyon.

In addition, as Miss Canyon, she received two savings bonds given by West Texas State Bank and First National Bank, a gift certificate from Jean's of Canyon, a crown furnished by McDonald's Dress Shop, and a plaque and roses from the study club.

Miss Wright, sponsored in the contest by the Varsity Theatre, is a member of the National Honor Society, Future Teachers of America and the Junior Engineering Technical Society at the high school.

As a junior student, she was named to Who's Who and has been nominated as class favorite. She has participated in 4-H activities.

Miss Wright's special interests include oil painting and making jewelry as well as working with metals. She enjoys snow skiing and swimming.

She plans to attend West Texas State University and is considering majors in law and clothes design.

Miss Wright will represent Canyon in the Miss Irish Rose Pageant at Shamrock this weekend.

First runner-up in the Miss Canyon Pageant was Roma Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Johnson. She received a plaque from Tweedledee and was sponsored in the pageant by De'Ons of Canyon.

Second runner-up was Carrie Gregg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dodson. She received a plaque from Shannon Engraving Co., and was sponsored in the contest by West Texas Arts of Canyon.

WTSU Prof. To Eye Storms For Tornadoes

When the Panhandle's traditional spring thunder and tornado storms arrive, William Beasley will be heading for the rooftop rather than the cellar.

Beasley, a physics professor at West Texas State University, will be watching the thunderheads and borrowed electronic equipment in an effort to collect data which might aid in improving an already-existing tornado prediction system.

The university professor has asked for a National Science Foundation grant to support his research for next year, research he hopes to get underway this spring when the storms begin.

What he proposes to do is add to the basic pool of knowledge concerning the predictability of tornadic action in storm clouds, a study which might or might not produce some tangible results in the saving of lives and property.

COVERING FUMBLES

by Dean Mitch Jones

Before retirement I often said, "I will do that" or "I have already done that" when I should have said that my secretary will do it or has done it. I hereby credit most of my efficiency to all my former secretaries.

Beasley, who's studied thunderstorms in research in New Mexico, said Canyon is on the north edge of the region in the United States which has the highest frequency of tornadoes. Lubbock falls on the south edge of the region, which peaks at Plainview.

Beasley, using borrowed equipment this year, will help a Texas Tech researcher scan the thunderstorms which pass through this high-frequency tornado region. But, he will also do some of his own research.

The research stems from earlier research in Colorado which is based

FROM THE CANYON RIM

by Troy Martin

I heard a group discussing the possible harm to young minds that can be done through their seeing violence on television.

One of the panelist said a return to the nursery rhymes and stories is what is needed in bending the young twigs in the right direction.

It brought to mind a nursery rhyme a well-meaning grandmother gave my oldest just about the time he learned to read.

It went this way.

An old lady went to the market and bought a pig. On the way home she tried to get the pig to jump over a stile (a small fence crossing.)

"Pig, Pig," pleaded the old woman, "Jump over the stile so we can get home tonight," But the pig would not.

"Dog, dog bite pig, Pig won't jump over the stile and we can't get home tonight," she entreated. But the dog would not.

"Stick, stick beat dog. Dog won't bite pig and pig won't jump over the stile so we can't get home tonight. Stick would not.

"Fire, fire burn stick. Stick won't beat dog, etc.". Fire would not.

"Water, water, quench fire. Fire won't burn stick, etc." Water would not.

"Ox, Ox, drink water. Water won't quench fire, etc." Ox would not.

"Butcher, butcher, kill Ox. Ox won't drink water, etc." Butcher would not.

"Rope, rope, hang butcher. Butcher won't kill Ox, etc."

Rope began hanging butcher. Butcher began killing Ox. Ox began drinking water. Water began quenching fire. Fire began burning stick. Stick began beating dog. Dog began biting pig. Pig jumped over the stile and the little old lady got home that night.

Isn't it wonderful that we still have the nursery stories to replace those old violent television shows?

Morrison, WT Student Leader, Wants To Be Voice For Students

Education and guidance, whether of the WTSU student voter or the high school student, are Canyon secondary education major Gene Vaughn Morrison's goals.

As vice-president of the Student Association, Gene spends many hours a day working to make the student voice a powerful and effective one.

"It is not only a right, but a duty, to be a voice on all matters affecting student life," Gene believes.

As is true for all administrative bodies, Gene believes that for the student voice to be heard "We must build up our own credibility on campus. We must maintain stature so that we can be taken seriously."

This seriousness and keen understanding of human relations has been valuable to him not only in working with State Representative Ben Bynum during the recent Texas Constitutional Convention, but with campus leaders and in the classroom.

"I learned human relations in my education classes," he observes.

Gene was in the first College of Education Leadership Seminar at WT in the spring for 1974. For one hour's credit, students met weekly at night for sessions to help them learn about themselves.

"Not only does the course teach self-concept to aid an individual in knowing himself, but it teaches leadership skills that can be applied to the every day college environment," he says.

Gene and other student government members have already displayed initiative and seriousness in their endeavors by successfully streamlining the student government into a unicameral legislature, a change that came after a hard battle.

But Gene's concern for the University does not stop with politics.

"Student government has given me the incentive for becoming more and more involved in the University," Gene believes. "It is the open door to making the undergraduate experience is vitally important to a young person's life," Gene continues. "Making the most of it leads directly to making something of your life."

Part of the benefits of Morrison's studies at West Texas State have been the challenges afforded him by the College of Education's self-paced instruction and individualized attention.

"The student going into education can take the initiative if he wants," he says. "I personally am motivated by self-paced instruction."

"You also get individualized instruction from a professor at WT," Morrison believes. "It's not so big that we have lost the individuality of the student."

Morrison has long participated in many musical activities on campus. Choral music, his teaching field, has dominated the little time that remains to him. Fans of the musical drama "TEXAS" may remember him as the head horse wrangler and singing cowhand several years back. Most recently he has had the honor of being a member of the nationally-recognized WTSU Chorale, who travelled, through their own financing, to California to sing for the Music Educators' National Convention. He has also been named to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

As Gene's senior year at West Texas State University draws to an end, he concludes "These four years have been the best four years of my life."

Gene is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene W. Morrison of 1307 9th Avenue, Canyon.

Gene Vaughn Morrison spends long hours helping students through tight scheduling and numerous conversations.

Campfire Girl's Banquet March 21

Bluebird and Adventurer levels of the Campfire Girls will conduct a "dad-daughter" evening at Gene Howe Elementary School on Friday, March 21, beginning at 7 p.m. with a box supper.

Bob Lee of the Big Texan Steakranch will emcee the evening's program as the event which is in observance of the 65th birthday of Campfire Girls. The program will feature skit presentations by the Bluebird and Adventurer levels and a series of slides describing daycamp and resident summer camping.

Forty-seven Campfire Girls from Gene Howe School and thirty-six Campfire girls from Rex Reeves Elementary are expected for the banquet, along with their fathers, and the dads and Campfire daughters from South Georgia Elementary School.

Jackie Jobe, banquet chairman, stated that the Discovery Campfire level will serve as waitresses for the evening.

Spring Banquet Slated For Bible Chair

Annual spring banquet for the Bible Chair, sponsored by Churches of Christ at West Texas State University, has been scheduled for March 14 with registration to begin at 6 p.m. in the East Cafeteria on campus.

University students and area residents are invited for the banquet where Gene Polvado, minister of the Ninth and Columbia Church of Christ in Plainview, will be the guest speaker.

Born in Ackerley, Texas, Polvado was placed at Boles Home in Quinlan at the age of 5 and lived there until his graduation from high school. He attended Abilene Christian College and the University of Houston. He worked as a sales representative for a large industrial firm when he began preaching for a church in Stafford, Texas. In 1961, he moved to Corpus Christi and began fulltime preaching. He began his ministry with the Plainview Ninth and Columbia Church of Christ in 1961.

Polvado and his wife, Nancy, have four children. He has participated in lectureship programs for both Abilene Christian College and Lubbock Christian College and serves on the board of trustees for LCC. Active in civic and community affairs, Polvado is president of the Plainview High School Parent-Teacher Association and also presides for the Plainview Band Parents Association.

Female Cadet Among Nine Taking Military Science At University

WTSU — Her father was a part of it, her husband is a part and now she's decided to become involved.

Lila Cobb, Amarillo junior, is taking military science, as one of the nine girls enrolled this year in the course at West Texas State University.

In her first year at WT, she is taking freshman ROTC course involving military marksmanship and basic map reading.

She is a member of the Angel Corps, a women's precision drill team composed of ten women. ROTC enrollment is not one of the requirements for the team.

The group performs in parades and other festivities and has been invited to attend the Governor's Invitational Meet in Phoenix, Arizona, one of the top drill meets in the country. They will compete in fancy drill, inspection and military marching.

Because she is a junior enrolled in freshman ROTC, she is not obligated to sign a contract for military service after graduation. She is eligible for military science scholarships.

Mrs. Cobb decided to enroll in ROTC because her husband is involved as a corps commander and advisor for the Angel Corps.

"The educational values of the course are many. You don't just use the skills in ROTC that you learn, such as map reading. They're good to know."

She and her husband, Darrell, transferred to WT from Fort Leavenworth, Kansas because of his major in animal science.

For two years, she attended St. Mary's College, a liberal arts college for Catholic women in Kansas.

"I like the personality of this school, of the Panhandle, and of Texas. I like the people and the idea of the whole thing. There's a genuine interest of the instructor to the students," she said.

The Cobbs both come from military families. They met on the base at Fort Leavenworth where their fathers were both stationed. Her father is a retired colonel.

After graduation, Mrs. Cobb plans to travel with her husband, who is obligated to serve for four years in the Army.

An elementary education major with English as a minor, she might teach in a foreign country, but "will enjoy seeing the world for a while."

Mrs. Cobb is a member of the Texas Student Education Association, Little Star, sister sorority to Scabbard and Blade, the national ROTC Honor society, and is a secretary in the military science department.

Mrs. Cobb is the daughter of Colonel and Mrs. R.E. Story, Corpus Christi and Cobb is the son of Arlon G. Cobb, Route 1, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

WTSU Band Due Concert

The Concert Band of West Texas State University will take the stage for a Monday afternoon concert on March 17. The band is under the direction of Dr. Gary Garner. The concert will be given at 4 p.m. in the Fine Arts Theatre.

"March Intercollegiate" by Ives, "Harlem Nocturne" by Hagen, and "Southern Tier Suite" by Hartley are programmed.

A suite of concert band arrangements of excerpts from Handel operas will also be performed. The suite, entitled "The Gods Go A'begging," will be heard in the band arrangement by Sir Thomas Beecham. Another British composer, Ralph Vaughn Williams, will be represented by his "Toccata Marziale." Doug Laramore, graduate assistant in music, will conduct the Concert Band in "Toccata Marziale."

Euphonium soloist Donald Baird will be featured on the program, in "Fantasis For Euphonium and Band" by Gordon Jacob.

School Board Meet Today

Canyon school board members will review the credentials of the top half dozen candidates for the job of athletic director and head football coach for Canyon High School during a special called meeting tonight.

The board will meet at 8 p.m. at the high school to consider a report from Supt. Jerry Jacobs on the top candidates for the post vacated last month by the resignation of Ron Mills.

Jacobs said he and School Principal John Sommer and current Athletic Director W.V. McAlpin will go over the paper data on the top four to six candidates for the post during the session.

No decision on a new athletic director and coach is expected at tonight's meeting, but Jacobs said it is possible a new man will be hired next week. He said he'd like to have the new coach on the job by April 1.

Mills resigned in February to become athletic director and coach at Bay City in South Texas. He had coached here four years and his teams had won two district championships.

WT Writers Seminar Saturday To Discuss Authors

WTSU — Dr. Richard Moseley, associate professor of English, will present "Southwestern Writers in the Twentieth Century" as the fourth Saturday Seminar March 15 in Room 102 of the West Texas State University Science Building.

The series of lectures, beginning at 10 a.m., is for all academically-talented high school juniors and seniors who would like to attend.

Dr. Moseley will discuss major subjects and themes of important regional writers. He will focus on the frontier myth in relation to the fate of the twentieth century.

"I'll concentrate on where self-reliance and the independence of the cowboy ideal confront suburban and technological lifestyles," Moseley said.

Concentrating primarily on fiction, Dr. Moseley will discuss earlier writers, including Willa Cather, Conrad Richter, Oliver LeFarge, and Katherine Porter, in addition to contemporary writers such as Paul Hargan, Frank Waters, Edwin Shrake and Larry McMurty.

Dr. Moseley has research interests in Southwestern literature, contemporary American literature and film and pop culture. He received his doctorate from the University of Cincinnati.

The Feb. 22 lecture on "The Intellectual Background of the Modern World" by Dr. Russell P. Sparling, assistant professor of English, was cancelled due to inclement weather.

Kevin Raef ran the 220-yard dash in 23.1 to another first place finish for the Eagles. His time is one of the best in the area.

Distance runner Cruz Luna won second place in the mile run with a time of 4:55.

In the discus competition, the Eagles took second, third and fourth places. Wayne Robinson won second with a toss of 131.4 feet. Brent Sherwood placed third with a 130 foot throw, and Rusty Holliday threw 121.5 feet to win fourth.

Collin Weaver won fifth in the shot put with 45.7 feet.

The mile-relay team of Lyndon Brazile, Kevin Raef, Ron Miller and Phillip Halsted knocked six seconds off their previous meet time to win second in the event with a time of 3:37.8.

The sprint-relay team also took second place honors with a 45.1 clocking.

The Canyon team had a team total of 114 points behind meet winner Amarillo High School with 170 points. Guymon, Okla., Dumas, and Tucumcari N.M. finished third, fourth and fifth respectively.

Saturday, the Eagle trackmen will go to Plainview to compete in the Bulldog Relays.

Pronouncer Selected For County Spelldown

James Couzzourt has been selected as the pronouncer to conduct the Randall County Spelling Bee on Tuesday, March 18, at 4 p.m. in the Canyon Junior High School auditorium.

Couzzourt holds the Master's degree in English and formerly was an assistant in the English Department at West Texas State University. The 1975 county bee will be his third year as a pronouncer for the spelling bee. He is with the state department of Public Welfare as a case worker for adult social services.

Observing the spelling bee for errors in spelling will be judges: Mrs. Stan Elliott, Mrs. George Blackwell and Mrs. Phil Swatzell.

The county bee is open to spectators at no charge. Mrs. Chris Thomas, secretary for County Judge Woody Pond, is the director for the county bee where words will be selected from the booklet "Words Of The Champions."

County bee winners in the junior and senior division will progress to the Regional Spelling Bee to be held April 26 at Stephen F. Austin Junior High School in Amarillo.

Co-sponsored by the Amarillo Globe News and West Texas State University, the regional competition will include county champions from New Mexico, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. Junior county winners will be guests for the luncheon and observe the regional bee where the senior county winners will be competing for an expense paid trip to the national spelldown this summer in Washington, D.C.

Talent Search Is Continuing

'Kid Power' talent show search is continuing under the sponsorship of the Heritage Woman's Club which is seeking talented youngsters to perform in the upcoming annual talent show.

Auditions are scheduled today, March 13, at 3 p.m. in the music room of Gene Howe Elementary School and will conclude on Monday, March 17, with auditions at 2:45 p.m. in the music room of Rex Reeves Elementary School.

Entry fee for the talent show is $1 per child. Auditions were conducted last week at both elementary schools and at Canyon Junior High School.

Talent competition will be judged in three divisions including grades 1-3; grades 4-6; and grades 7-9. Prizes will be awarded the first and second place talent in each of the divisions.

The talent show will be presented onstage at Canyon High School April 12 beginning at 7:30 p.m. and proceeds from admissions will be used to purchase a portable heart defibrillator for Palo Duro Hospital, which is estimated to cost about $2,600.

WT Track Team To Begin Outdoors

West Texas State's track team gets its first taste of outdoor competition Saturday when Coach Bob Kitchens takes a 26-man team to the Arlington Relays.

Missouri Valley Conference indoor champions Joseph Tiony and Alvis Wright will lead the Buffs in their quest to wrest the team championship of the meet away from the state of Oklahoma. The University of Oklahoma won the team title last year, and rival Oklahoma State was the meet's best the previous five years.

Both teams are entered for this year's meet at Wilemon Field in Arlington. Arkansas State, Louisiana Tech, Northwestern Louisiana, MVC indoor co-champion North Texas State, Texas Tech, WTSU, and host U.T. Arlington make up the rest of the nine-team field.

Wright zipped to a 6.3 clocking in the MVC 60-yard dash for his title, while Tiony was clocked in 1:53.9 to win the half-mile. Tiony also finished second in the mile with a school record 4:11.4.

The shift outdoors gives the Buffs some added point possibilities in what could be strong events. Kitchens expects Marvin Self and Mike Parman to be strong contenders in the discus, and for footballer Jeff Nunn to pick up points in the javelin.

The 440-yard relay could also be a big Buff event. In addition to Alvis Wright, Kitchens has top sprinters in Robert Dennis, Curtis Lindley, and Karl Wright. The same runners make the 100- and 200-yard dashes, equally promising.

Other potential point getters for WTSU include Charlie Haddad in the shot put, Lindley in the long jump, and Mike Walker and Tommy Humphries in the pole vault.

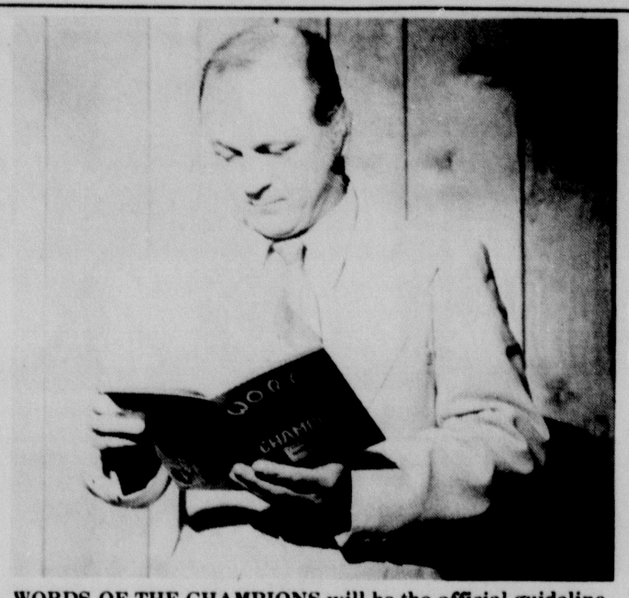
Following the Arlington meet, the Buffs next participate in the Texas Tech Relays March 22 in Lubbock. WT's next home meet will be March 29 against Eastern New Mexico and Colorado State.

Youths Have Skiing Trip

Nineteen youths of the First Christian Church of Canyon and their adult sponsors enjoyed a successful week-end skiing trip to New Mexico recently.

The group stayed at Eagle's Nest and skiied at Angel Fire slopes. Group sponsors were Peggy and Jay Trosper, Louise and Ross Russell, Peggy and Joe Smith and Chris and Jeri Gerald.

Ricky Cooper, Canyon Junior Varsity shortstop, rounds home after hitting a three-run homer over the left field fence Monday against the Hereford JV. The Eagles went on to blank the visitors 6-0.



WORDS OF THE CHAMPIONS will be the official guideline for spelling bee contestants March 18 at the Randall County Spelling Bee as James Couzzourt serves as the pronouncer.

Mark Banners Have Baby Here

Mr. and Mrs. Mark A. Banner of 4901 Goodnight in Amarillo announce the March 2 birth of a 6 pound, 4 ounce daughter who has been named Renee Rachelle.

Born at Palo Duro Hospital in Canyon, the baby measured 19½ inches at birth. The father is employed as the meat department manager for Safeway and the Banners have another daughter, Angela Raquel, 3.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Elmer F. Reinart and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald M. Banner, all of Hereford.

on the electrical charges in storms.

For three decades or more, Beasley said, it has been known that lightening strikes cause static in radios.

"For 20 or so years, people have been trying to come up with the significance of the static to differentiate one kind of storm from another," he said.

Researchers have been able to ascribe certain types of radio interference to storms bearing tornadic action, he said, and to a degree their efforts at prediction have been successful.

One researcher in Denver has developed a device which claims just such a function, but its success has been limited and, according to Beasley, must be assessed in terms not only of the number of tornadic storms predicted correctly but also the number of false alarms associated with the predictions.

It is one of Beasley's goals to try to monitor radio frequencies for storm electrical data in an effort to find more reliable data to enable more accurate pin-pointing of tornadic storms.

The professor explained that the current prediction system developed in Denver uses high radio frequencies to determine the type of interference. Beasley wants to examine tornadic storms using a variety of frequencies in an effort to try to pinpoint the telltale signs possibly intrinsic only to tornadoes.

In his efforts this spring prove successful initially, he plans to go into more depth in the problem next spring.

Vegetable Gardening Topic For Junior Forum Meeting

"Doing Your Own Thing In The Vegetable Garden" was the subject of Tuesday's program giving hints on establishing and maintaining a vegetable garden.

"It's best not to sprinkle the water on unless you are trying to germinate your seeds," related Mrs. Loudder stressing that best results from watering are achieved by surface watering, especially when the water-soak is to a considerable depth such as through a submergible watering system.

She recommended that local gardeners follow nature's plan in controlling garden insects and pests and stated that in past gardening seasons she had ordered for her own garden various praying mantises and lady bugs to help keep pests controlled naturally.

"Remember that some poisons do penetrate the vegetable fruit and generally leave a residual content of poison even when the surface has been washed thoroughly," she stated.

Concluding the program, Mrs. Loudder noted that "healthy plants always seem to do better in good soil" and that summer harvesting of vegetables sometimes requires a daily harvest to keep up with an abundant crop — or to keep the fruits (such as beans or squash) picked at the just right stage.

The Junior Forum meeting was conducted at the Episcopal University Center with Kathy Glazener, president, in charge of the business session. The forum's April 8 meeting will be devoted to election of officers to serve during 1975-76 and the elected officers will be installed at the annual luncheon on May 13.

Dr. Lloyd I. Watkins, WTSU president, received an Honorary Membership Certificate into the WTSU Chapter of the Agriculture Honorary Society. The presentation was made at the last meeting of the society by President Andy Wilhelm, a senior ag major at WT, from Umbarger.

Carrington, who suffered a heart attack recently and just returned to his desk in the county tax office, says he's more interested in equalizing the tax values than in increasing the values.

His preliminary legwork to determine fair market values for property in the county has only begun, but has shown him enough that he believes the current values on which property is taxed are very low.

So far Carrington has prepared aerial photographs of the county, with sales since 1968 marked clearly. His initial efforts in the field have been to contact persons who recently bought or sold property in an effort to set up standards to judge fair market values.

Commissioners have said they will finance a four-year reasseessment program to upgrade the tax structure in the county. Carrington began the effort late in 1974.

The Garden Spot

By RICK WILCOX

Probably not since World War II's "Victory Garden" days have so many Americans been interested in a home vegetetable garden. Unfortunately, many have no idea how to begin. In the coming months in this column, we'll take you step by step through the care and feeding of a mini-garden, or "kitchen garden" as some call it. The idea will be to keep it small and simple but to work for maximum returns from the area in use.

At risk of upsetting the oil companies and U.S. Department of Agriculture, we'll be "going organic." No chemical fertilizers or pesticides. Chemicals shouldn't be necessary in a small well-tended garden, and keeping it natural will help us recycle some household trash that otherwise would be feeding flies and taking up space in our friendly neighborhood landfill. Start saving your egg shells, coffee grounds and wood ashes. Also coffee cans with plastic lids, the 3 pound size if you can get them.

A spade will be the only tool you need, but a hoe and bow rake will be handy if you own or can borrow them. A few sacks of dried manure, some agricultural lime and a little bone meal complete the supply list. Seed catalogs are good references and are usually free upon request. Burpee Company (Clinton, Iowa) and Gurney Seed (Yankton, S.D.) put out good ones. Ortho sells a 25 cent pamphlet of clever suggestions through most nursery departments, notwithstanding its Exxon connections and pro-chemical bias.

The key to big yields from a small area is proper use of space. Instead of rows, plant in small beds about 2 by 3 feet with narrow paths between them. Plant by scattering seeds across the bed. You can thin later as necessary and use the thinnings of lettuce, baby carrots and so forth as you go along. You use more seed this way, but seed is much cheaper than vegetables. What your early thinnings lack in size they'll make up in quantity, and your harvest will begin weeks earlier than otherwise.

Another space saver is a trellis, fence or heavy cord strung between 2 poles along the north or west sides of the plot. By using pole beans, peas, and by training vining plants to go up instead of out, you can save some ground space for other crops.

Next week we'll discuss what crops to plant and what varieties of each are best suited to our area. Meantime, if you have any questions or gardening tips, send them to me in care of the Canyon News. Until next time. . .

Census To Eye Jobs During Month Survey

During the week of March 17-21, the U.S. Bureau of the Census will conduct its regular monthly survey on employment and unemployment in this area.

In addition to the usual questions on current employment, the March survey will have questions on the work experience and income of household members last year and whether they have moved since the 1970 census was taken.

The sample of households in this area are among 50,000 across the country scientifically selected to represent a cross section of all U.S. households.

The monthly survey is conducted for the U.S. Department of Labor and provides a continuous record of activity in the labor force. The January survey showed that employment had declined for the fourth straight month. Unemployment increased sharply in January, pushing the Nation's unemployment rate to 8.2 per cent, its highest point since World War II.

Facts supplied by individuals participating in the survey are kept strictly confidential by law, and the results are used only to compile statistical totals.

Colds, Flu, Scarlet Fever Taking Toll In Park

Siesta Noticias

By DORIS McKEE

IT'S TIME TO climb into that comfortable chair, relax, put on the ole specks and read all the latest out Siesta way.

It seems the weather is causing people to stay in and to have less company now. We can get up to a cloudy cool morning and it goes to a nice warm afternoon or a cold rainy, snowy and windy one. Guess summer will finally come and we'll have a lot of nice, warm, sunny days again.

I discovered this past week that we have had three confirmed cases of scarlet fever here in the park. There may be more, but I haven't heard of them, if there are. There are quite a few people down with the flu and with colds and sore throats.

FAYE AND PECK Risner went to Oklahoma City to the VA hospital last week so Peck could get a checkup on his ear. Everything was doing well enough that he was able to return to work the end of the week.

I CALLED EUNICE Rinehart to see what she and Barney had done this week. She said they were at their daughter Charollte's and Tom McWilliams Sr., Saturday visiting with their grandson and his wife, Tom and Belanie McWilliams Jr., who were here from Albuquerque.

Sunday Eunice and another grandson, Laine, had lunch with Bob and Jo Rinehart. This family is very close and really does seem to enjoy each other.

WAS TALKING TO Jonnie Robertson Monday night. She said they hadn't had time to do anything newsy. She spent her days last week visiting and helping an aunt, also a cousin that was in the hospital.

This is a Boy Scout "Good Turn" for Goodwill Day.

PEARL AND DALE West went into Amarillo Saturday and visited with Larry and Donna and the grandsons, Zane and Shawn. Pearl held Shawn and started work on getting some time in on spoiling him.

Before they came back home, they went by to see Pearl's sister and brother-in-law, Gladys and Rusty McGehee, and had a very nice visit.

DUSTY WEST SPENT Saturday night with Jerry Huey. They really had a great time. I heard they didn't go to sleep until after 4:00 a.m.

KENNETH AND DORIS Wallace decided to try out that new Volkswagon, so about 5:00 p.m. last Friday they loaded up and headed toward Kansas to see their daughter and family, Linda and Bill Jordan in Arkansas City. They enjoyed their visit with them and the two grandchildren.

Saturday evening they drove over to Blackwell, Okla. to spend a little time with Kenneth's folks, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Wallace, and Sunday went on to Ponca City to see Doris' mother, Mrs. Cora Erwin.

Doris said they did manage to be rained on, snowed on, sleeted on and wind blown. But not much sunshined on.

OH YES, I heard that Tex Reed has been looking at new open houses. Seems there was one in particular that really took his eye. As he was looking in, the people who had bought the house were there looking out.

Bet that was an eye-opening experience.

GUESS IT IS time to sign off for the week, but will be back next time. So keep on reading.

Thought for this week, "Dreams are good, but the real thing is easier to get hold of. So dream for pleasure but hold on to what's real."

See ya.

AN OLD FASHIONED wood expedition into the canyons was held last Friday on the McGehee ranch. Miles and Melton McGehee and several friends (including Kenneth Wyatt of Tulia) took two burros (one burro belonged to Dick Ratjen and one to Cliff Hardy of Lockney) and hiked to the bottom of the canyon.

There they loaded the wood on the burros and brought it out along the same trails that the McGehees used in the pioneer days. Neta and Othella traveled along with the group which also included Peg and M.L. McGehee.

Even though it was a bitter cold day, the group reported having lots of fun. Several cameras worked overtime as friends visited.

DICK AND PHYLLIS Ratjen recently had the Larry Clayman family of Missouri as house guests for a few days. Larry came to pick up a horse that he bought from Dic.

Highlight of the visit was a seventy pound chimpanzee owned by the Clayman's. The chimp is reported to have eaten at the table with better table manners than some human beings, answered the telephone on one occasion when it rang (except for saying 'hello') and even used the bathroom as a human would.

I forgot to ask Dick if the chimp took a bath in their tub.

"Books For Buffs" Drive To Aid Library

West Texas State University officially opened its "Books for Buffs" drive with presentation by State Sen. Max Sherman of the $2388.96 that remained from his Governor for a Day ceremonies last April 27.

Accepting the check in the new WTSU Cornette Library were University President Lloyd I. Watkins and Head Librarian Frank Blackburn.

"The West Texas State University Library has a goal in this book fund drive of trying to raise over the next ten years $1 million," Blackburn noted.

The purpose is, through donations of $15 or more and of scholarly collections, to increase the Library's book count by more than 30,000, as well as add library materials that would enhance the education and agriculture degree plans.

"There are many reasons why we need to continue to develop and expand this facility so we can meet the needs of this region," Sherman said. "We have to have a hub, and I see the library as that hub.

"The West Texas State University Library is one for all citizens of this region," he continued. "I would certainly encourage all the people to come and use its facilities—it's one of the finest in this part of the country."

Blackburn noted that the $1 million would fill "roughly 300 book sections in the library."

"Our immediate goal is to fill half of this in the next year or so, in other words 157 book sections, which would cost somewhere between $450,000-500,000," he remarked. "This gift from Sen. Sherman, which I can't think of a more appropriate way to start this drive, will fill one of these sections, so we now have 156 to go."

Sherman stated that at the time when he held the traditional Governor for a Day ceremonies honoring his election as president pro-tem of the Senate, "We announced that if there were any surplus funds they would be given to some worthy project.

"The presentation to the West Texas State University Library is the balance of those funds not needed, and I think there is nothing more worthwhile than a library activity," he said.

"We are deeply grateful to Sen. Sherman for his interest and support of West Texas State University as exemplified by this magnificent gift to the WTSU Library for purchasing books for our book collection," Watkins noted. "We hope that Sen. Sherman's example will spur others who have an interest in higher education in the Panhandle to realize that we are in a public-private partnership in furthering this University. We hope that others will feel they too can contribute to the book fund and West Texas State through the WTSU Foundation."

Over the next year, WTSU Director of Development Keith Winter and Blackburn will contact parents of WTSU students, current and retired WTSU faculty members, WTSU alumni and friends and professional and civic organizations about the drive. They will be informing them of the facilities available at the University Library, as well as seeking donations of $15 or more or of scholarly collections. A donation of $15 will purchase one book for the collections, and the donor's name will be placed on a bookplate inside the book's cover. A donation of approximately $2500, such as Sen. Sherman's, will fill one book section, and the contributor's name will be placed on a gold plaque on the section. The donor of a scholarly collection will also be recognized.

Contributions will be made to the WTSU Foundation, and are tax-deductible. Interested individuals should contact either Keith Winter or Frank Blackburn.

Golf Team Travels To N.M.

West Texas State University's golf team will get the treatment it has needed this weekend, some sorely needed playing time.

But unfortunately, the rounds will come as part of the New Mexico State Intercollegiate. The Buffaloes will be part of a 11-team field that tees off for the 54-hole tournament Thursday.

Allen Johnson, a sophomore from Amarillo, will lead the Buffs into the Las Cruces tournament after leading the qualifying for Coach Vern Farquhar. The Buffs will send a six-man contingent to the tournament, just the third competition of the year for the team.

In fact, Farquhar's men haven't had much of a chance to play anywhere this year. "Normally, we would have played over 200 rounds by this time," the veteran mentor lamented this week. "But the weather has been so bad, we haven't played near as much as we should have."

The New Mexico State tournament has traditionally been one of the toughest on the WTSU schedule. Arizona State is the defending champion.

Also entered are teams from Texas Tech, Odessa College, Western New Mexico, Western Texas, New Mexico Military, Pan American, Midland College, and two teams from New Mexico State.

Johnson shot 72-74-76 — 222, to rank as WT's top qualifier over the team's home course in Canyon, Hunsley Hills. Junior Salinas, a senior from Spearman, was next at 225, including a final round 71 Monday.

Also making the trip will be David Scott (228) a junior from Katy, Randall Burton (233), a senior from Canyon, Rick Piersall (234), a junior from Perryton, and Tommy Smith (235), a junior from Amarillo.

The Buffaloes take another week off from intercollegiate competition next week before playing in the Eastern New Mexico Invitational in Clovis, N.M., on March 27-29.

WT Netters Open Tourney Without Top Seed

West Texas State's young tennis team, hit by the loss of its number one singles player this week, hosts a top field in the sixth annual West Texas State Team Tournament Friday and Saturday (March 14-15).

The Buffaloes open defense of the team crown which they have won the past four years Friday evening with a special indoor match against Oral Roberts University in the Activities Center. The other six teams start play Friday afternoon on the Buffs' Laykold courts.

The University of New Mexico, second place finisher in the Western Athletic Conference last year, will be the top seeded team in the tournament. Oklahoma State, 5-4 winner over WTSU in the Corpus Christi tournament two weeks ago, will be seeded second with the host team third.

That number three ranking may be hard for the Buffs to keep without Samuel Nunez, the junior college transfer who stepped right in to play the number one position for Coach David Kent. Nunez left school and went back to Mexico City for personal reasons, according to Kent.

Nunez' absence moves Brett Hall, a sophomore from Houston, to the number one slot. Hall has won 10 of his 11 singles matches so far this season playing number two.

New Mexico finished fifth at the UCC meet. The Lobos first meet Angelo State at 1 p.m. Friday.

The rest of the bracket has Texas Tech playing Amarillo College, also at 1 p.m., and Oklahoma State playing Navarro College at 3 p.m.

Semifinals will be played at 10 a.m., Saturday with the finals to follow at 1:30 p.m. All of Saturday's play will be outdoors.

Friday's schedule:

1 p.m.—New Mexico vs. Angelo State, Texas Tech vs. Amarillo College

3 p.m.—Oklahoma State vs. Navarro College

6 p.m.—West Texas State vs. Oral Roberts (Activities Center)

Saturday's schedule:

9 a.m.—Consolation semifinals

10 a.m.—Championship semifinals

Noon—Fifth place, Seventh place

1:30 p.m.—Championship, Third place

Club To Meet

Palo Duro Mother-in-Law Club will meet Friday, March 14, at 3 p.m. in the home of Mari Bell Calloway, 2112 11th Avenue.

Jimmy Craigs Have Baby Boy

The Jimmy Craigs, who reside south of Canyon, announce the March 8 birth of a son, John Ross, who was born at Palo Duro Hospital in Canyon and weighed 6 pounds at birth.

The baby boy measured 19½ inches at birth and has a sister, Cindy, age 14.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wheeler of Amarillo and Mrs. Ross (Opal) Craig of Canyon.

WT Inks Gridders

West Texas State University has added a pair of all-state performers from Oklahoma and Florida to its 1975 football recruiting catch.

Head Coach and Athletic Director Gene Mayfield has announced the signing to national letters of intent of fullback Jesse Cross from Lawton, Okla., and split end-safety Reggie Spencer from Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Both players were named to prep All-American squads as well as sweeping honors in their respective states.

Cross gained 1,270 yards during the nine-game regular season to lead Lawton High School to the Oklahoma state playoffs. The 5-11, 190-pounder has 4.6 speed from his fullback position.

In addition to his football skills, Cross is a top high school wrestler. He finished second in the state in the 168-pound class this year after a fourth place spot as a junior.

Spencer, a 6-2½, 170-pounder from Plantation High in Fort Lauderdale, led his 8-2 team with 25 catches for 550 yards and six touchdowns. On defense, he was credited with seven pass interceptions.

Spencer also excels in track with a 39.5 clocking in the intermediate hurdles for the Plantation High team.

Both men are excellent students. Cross owns a 3.4 grade point average (on a 4.0 scale), while Spencer has a 2.6 (on a 3.0 scale).

Spencer is a member of his high school's chapter of the National Honor Society, and Cross was a "student of the month" in Lawton in addition to being a Youth Appreciation Week honoree.

DE Program Recruiting

The Distributive Education program at Canyon High School is in the process of acquainting juniors and seniors with the part the program plays in the vocational education department of the school.

Having been on the CHS campus for only a year, the vocational education department and DE teacher-coordinator Jerry Bigham hopes to expand the program next year by raising the enrollment in the DE classes.

The student in Distributive Education trains in the classroom as well as on the job. Approximately half of the class time is spent in basic distribution. The remaining class time is spent on specific instruction which provides the individual student with detailed product and procedure knowledge necessary for the selected career objective.

In the cooperative part-time programs, half of the student's school day is spent on the job in a qualified training station. The student is a paid, part-time employee of the training station and is supervised by a training sponsor.

Requirements for the Distributive Education program include junior classification, 16 years of age, approval of the counselor and DE coordinator, and capable of training for employability.

"Whether your goal after graduation is college entrance or stepping into the working world, Distributive Education can help prepare the individual for the future," Bigham said.

Applications for the program are now available in the vocational counselor's office.

The club also voted to support Mrs. Cristler Crain as their nominee to serve as a delegate at the state meeting.

During the business session, the club also voted to give a contribution to the Heart Fund in memory of Albert Myers.

The program was presented by Mrs. A.K. Goodman concerning her recent trip to the Holy Lands as she showed slides, pictures and discussed the many places she had visited.

Next meeting for the club will be at the Farm Bureau Building with Mrs. Bill Head and Mrs. Jim Irlbeck as hostesses with a program on "wills and estate planning" to be presented by attorney Wayne Bagley.
